DRIVER—TRUCK & TRACTOR TRAILER

Truck drivers drive tractor-trailer trucks or operate other forms of heavy trucks to carry goods between terminals. Some drivers deliver a load to a nearby city, pick up another loaded trailer, and return it to their home base the same day. Others make runs that take days to complete. On very long trips, they may work with a partner, taking turns driving. Some truck drivers have regular runs, and others have schedules that change from trip to trip. Heavy truck drivers drive single-body trucks that carry materials that weigh three tons or more. This type of truck includes dump, tow, flatbed, ready mix, and tank trucks. Some of the trucks are mounted with special equipment.

GENETIC COUNSELOR

"Practice of genetic counseling" means the communication process, which deals with the human problems associated with the occurrence, or the risk of occurrence, of a genetic disorder in a family, including the provision of services to help an individual or family. A genetic counselor comprehends the medical facts, including the diagnosis, probable cause of the disorder, and the available management. Appreciates the way heredity contributes to the disorder and the risk of occurrence in specified relatives; understands the alternatives for dealing with the risk of occurrence, chooses the course of action which seems appropriate to patients in view of their risk, their family goals, and their ethical and religious standards, and acts in accordance with that decision. Makes the best possible psychosocial adjustment to the disorder in an affected family member or to the risk of occurrence of that disorder.
