“June’s employment assessment continues building upon May’s improvement,” reported Mark Knold, Chief Economist at the Department of Workforce Services. “Businesses continue to bring back furloughed workers. Across the past two months, just under half of the COVID-idled workers have been returned to work. These gains, in turn, have cut the unemployment rate in half in two months.”

Utah’s private sector employment contraction continued easing in June, with the year-over setback lessening to -2.7%. Three of 10 private-sector major industry groups measured in the establishment survey posted net job gains in June, these being Construction (9,700 jobs); Trade, Transportation and Utilities (1,400 jobs); and Financial Activities (600 jobs). The remaining eight industry groups posted employment declines. These were most impactful in Leisure and Hospitality Services (-32,400 jobs); Professional and Business Services (-8,400 jobs); and Manufacturing (-1,900).

Note: Numbers have been left unrounded for convenience rather than to denote accuracy.

Note: Employment numbers are not seasonally adjusted. Therefore, comparisons of employment levels from one month to the next should not be used as job creation/loss estimates between those months. Seasonal factors could be the reason. For example, employment levels in September are usually higher than in August, as school employment resumes.
